Covid-19: The world needs to pull together Related While we watch the coronavirus story unfold, we see the Indian government cancelling conferences and offering our fellow citizens the option to self-isolate at home for the next 14 days. For those who are already in the country, we see the government encouraging our citizens to travel back home and home to their own country. We see the government moving to procure supplies such as masks and gloves for its citizens, and we even see the government buying into the essential production of N95 masks (instead of the usual outsourcing). With all this, we see our government enacting the largest stimulus package in history (over $2 trillion), offering bailouts to our financial sector, and spending billions on medical supplies such as ventilators and testing f3e1b3768c
