(type rftrixchart in the current project does not have the 'compile with' specified)" A: The person who needs to actually run the report must have the FastReport Enterprise Edition. The other computers should have the FastReport Professional. The user with the FastReport Enterprise must define the report in the project menu, and run it as "Enable Debugging" and "Enable the Script Generator" (or on Java - "Test"). The project must be compiled and the executable must be copied to the "report tools" directory. After that the target computer is already able to run the report from the menus. -complete-forms I am building a website for my thesis, and I have a problem with one of the question form. So, the problem is that the radio input field is not aligned with the other inputs. All the other inputs are aligned when I use the Bootstrap grid system on my website. I can't understand what the problem is. I used the same HTML, CSS and JS but the radio field is not aligned. (see image below) I tried adding a margin-bottom of 50px to the radio field, but nothing changed. A: You need to add class form-group and to get a proper css for your input added font-weight: 400; as shown below. A: For radio input fields the font should be em for both the container and the input field Try this and let me know if it works 3ef4e8ef8d
