Granado website. According to A.A. Granado in an article about the "black box" theory (see here in Spanish), Lo cierto es que aquí estamos ante uno de esos nombres largamente atribuido a los autores de códigos. Podría hablarse de uno de esos 'black boxes' que nos abren los modelos sistemáticos, apoyados en un algoritmo que, hasta el día de hoy, no ha podido dar con la verdad del resultado. [p.39] In fact, we are facing a black box that, as they say, opens the model, but it's still a black box. The differential distribution of the angiotensin AT(2) and AT(1) receptors in the mouse brain. This study investigated the distribution of the angiotensin II receptor subtype AT(2) and AT(1) receptors in the mouse brain, using in vitro autoradiography. Binding of 125I-[Sar1, Ile8]angiotensin II (125I-SI-ANG II) and 125I-[Sar1,Ile8]angiotensin II methyl ester (125I-SI-ANG II-Me) was measured in frozen brain sections from female C57Bl/6 mice. Specific binding of 125I-SI-ANG II was more 2d92ce491b
