boards a Black Hoeing alien ship! We've got a bunch of cool stuff for you in the Bat! Voyager PODCASES, and it's time to talk about the second-most powerful man in the world, Alexander Korolov! He's the King of Vampires, the Head of the Russian Mafia, the Leader of a Cult of Martians, and the Chancellor of a Ghostly Dominion, but he's also an agent of the UN. We have his cardback, so let's take a look! In the cardback, Alexander talks to the "Joker" about his new power to see the future: It's so weird! It's not like the Joker from Batman, right? Actually, the Joker was the future vision of Alexander Korolov, the cardback tells us. It's really... sick! Alexander was a junkie who lived on the edge, running a smack house in Russia during the 80s. He was never afraid to be himself, but eventually he was captured and locked up in a Russian prison, where he was a sick joke. He was thrown in with regular criminals, including a child murderer and a home-grown terrorist who wanted to destroy the country. One day, while in the prison yard, Alexander heard a "war cry" and saw an image of a White Russian hooded figure giving a loud, long speech to the others, saying something about the West, the United States, something. Another inmate passed the info along to the guards. From Alexander's cell, he overheard the Russian guard say that the man had just received the Power of 20,000 men. The guard saw a vision of Alexander's future. Some of the inmates started planning a jailbreak, and Alexander decided to run for the escape. While most of the other inmates ran away from him, he ran to the jail door, put a knife through it, and ran to freedom! Alexander found an old armory, and started building his own army. He quickly brought in a group of corrupt Russian gangsters, organized them into a paramilitary unit, and started planning his raid on the prison and overthrow of the Russian government. Alexander found his way to the UN, and started working for the UN, working towards world peace, stopping criminals, and doing
