Doppler velocimetry was used to measure choroidal blood flow, interstitial fluid pressure, and choroidal vascular permeability in 15 pigmented domestic miniature pigs with a unilateral intravitreal injection of a tumor-inducing retinoblastoma cell line (RH-7777) and in five controls. Choroidal fluid volume, interstitial fluid pressure, and choroidal vascular permeability were significantly elevated in the lesion as compared with that in the fellow control eye (P less than 0.02). An elevation of interstitial fluid pressure in the tumor-injected eye was also demonstrated, but not significantly (P less than 0.4). The results indicate that choroidal vascular permeability increases in eyes with intraocular tumor-inducing retinoblastoma.Q: Checking if a file is selected from listbox I have a list box displaying all the files in a directory. How would I go about checking which files are selected in the listbox? I know I could just make a routine that check for files all the time to see if the listbox is changed, but I was wondering if there is a way of checking and getting all selected files. Thanks in advance A: Check if the
