The Photoshop CS1 package is $500 and the Photoshop CS3 package is $1,000. Publishing Your Work Creating the largest element of any e-commerce project is the realization that you need to create your own website, which can include anything from an email confirmation to a fully customized e-commerce website. This is where your creativity will really come in — but to take this task seriously, you need to understand a few basics. Sometimes it is better not to think too hard about the design for your website, especially because figuring out the best site makes it less likely you'll get one. Then again, sometimes there is so much choice that you may need to spend some time thinking about the design direction you want to go to be sure that you're in a position to compete on the best terms. Fortunately, there are many things you can do (and not do) with a basic website. And you don't have to put in a huge amount of effort to build a pretty standard site. Before you spend money on an agency, or try to bend the web designer to your ideas, consider what you might do if you went it alone. Beginning the Design It's never too early to begin the process of creating your own website. If you have a very simple site in mind, you can begin with the planning stage. If you're having trouble getting your head around the idea, but you have images in mind and some ideas for colors, there are many different tools and software packages that can help you get started: Photoshop: Look at a few sample websites that are designed in Photoshop and find one that you like. Figure out what the essential parts of the page are and then learn some basic techniques for how to manipulate each part. Illustrator: When you learn the basics of Illustrator, you will be prepared to create pretty much anything. It has excellent simplicity and comes with an assortment of graphic-design tools. Illustrator/Photoshop: Find a design that you like and use both programs in tandem. This may require learning to use each program's own editing features, but the added versatility is worth the effort. If you're not sure what kind of site you need, consider asking a local design or website company for some referrals. They usually know what their clients are looking for. Getting Your Site to Cost Less The cost of creating your site can be the most expensive part of the entire process. The "in

The Brand New Ethics Bailout - mathias ====== ericjang That's a re-tread of this: ~~~ rtpg It's interesting that when I searched for "ethics" on HN a lot of the results were related to the disgraced one from our current President. I guess ethics is a dirty word. ------ mathias I couldn't find a way to contact the author, but I found this on someone's Twitter feed: "anyone who's reading this has a moral responsibility to blog about the $50B corporate welfare fund" ~~~ csnover [ac... Cement industry The cement industry includes three major product groups: Portland cement, cement clinker, and admixtures. Products Portland cement Cement is a key component in the construction of buildings, roads, and other concrete structures. Portland cement is a mixture of limestone and clay that, when mixed with water, becomes a cementious paste which sets into a hardened rock-like substance. The composition of the cement varies according to the intended end use, for example in structural and tile applications, the properties desired are different. Other ingredients, admixtures, often colouring agents, and other secondary substances are added to give the cement the properties it has. The strength of the material is important, especially in structural applications; the lower the strength, the more rapidly the material can be set and hardened, and the less subject to cracking. Properties of Portland cement The demand for Portland cement has grown dramatically since the early 1970s, partly due to the construction of high-rise buildings in many major cities, the use of the material in the construction of new highways,

When you start "The Daikatana Movie", you'll see the following short text: If you see a lot of people die, it's probably because you don't have any of the recommended video cards. No, really! No joke! Unless you have an ATI RADEON Xpress 200 or better graphics card. Seriously though, the "Daikatana" movie was never intended to be a problem for anyone
