Pentraxin 3 in acute leukemia. Emerging evidence indicates that stem cell factor is a key molecular mediator of hematopoietic tissue repair. It is also known that acute myeloid leukemia (AML) patients show reduced stem cell factor expression and that this reduction is responsible for a defective stem cell function, critical for leukemic cell suppression. Finally, recent reports show that innate immunity, by cytokines and by pattern recognition receptors, has a pivotal role in the control of leukemia and immune tolerance. Pentraxin 3 (PTX3) is a pattern recognition receptor expressed in several tissues and organs, including the bone marrow, that binds to a conserved region in stem cell factor. Once bound to stem cell factor, PTX3 might act as a decoy receptor for stem cell factor, impairing stem cell function and differentiation. Herein, we review the expression and role of PTX3 in AML patients.1. Technical Field This invention relates to a container, and more specifically to a container including a container body and a cap that closes the container body. 2. Background Art The patent literature contains many references of containers. Reference in particular is had to U.S. Pat. No. 5,282,775 by G. R. Wilkerson, III, et al. dated Feb. 1, 1994. In this reference, a rigid, generally rectangular cylindrical container is described in which an inner sleeve member is slid over an exterior end of the container body. The sleeve has flanges that extend from diametrically opposed sides of the sleeve so as to engage the outer surface of the body in order to secure the sleeve member to the body member. The flanges are then crimped or folded to secure the sleeve member to the body member. The sleeve may then be rotated to allow for easy removal of the container.Could you be more of a slut?! Q: How to add a UIView subclass to a UINavigationController? I was implementing the default UIViewController template for iPhone and everything went fine except the navController. I was able to add a navBarView to the navController, but not the UIView subclass which is in the project. Can someone give me some pointers on how to do this? A: Add this to the parent view controller's header file: UIView *view = [[[YourViewSubclass alloc] initWithNibName:@"YourViewSubclass" bundle:nil] autorelease]; [self.view addSubview:view]; And in you view controller's implementation file: - (id)initWithNibName:(NSString *)nibNameOrNil bundle:(NSBundle *)nibBundleOrNil { self = [super initWithNibName:nibNameOrNil bundle:nibBundleOrNil]; if (self) { // Custom initialization } return self; } Keep in mind that it is possible to add your custom subview by clicking on the navigation bar in the Interface Builder, which will call initWithNibName. A: Actually I had this issue. I wanted to add a custom view in a Navigation Bar. But the Navigation Bar's Navigation Controller had its own view controller which didn't have a view. As you add the custom view to the View Controller in Interface Builder, the Navigation Controller still has its own view to have its own subviews, and you have to add the view to Navigation Controller first. To do this, I did this. // To add a custom view, first you have to add the custom view to your Navigation Controller. // You could add it in IB or you could do it in the code. I'm doing it in the code. UINavigationController *navController = [[UINavigationController alloc] initWithRootViewController:self]; //self.viewControllers = [NSArray arrayWithObjects:viewController, navController, nil]; self.viewControllers = [NSArray arrayWithObjects:navController, viewController, nil]; //self.view.backgroundColor = [UIColor colorWithWhite:0.95 alpha:1];
