WiMPlay is designed to be user friendly and very simple to use. Simply select a file or playlist, adjust the volume and other settings and you can hit play. The default sound and frame rate are very clear, but they can be overridden with simple clicks to configure, and even force WiMPlay to play at any speed. WiMPlay is also very stable and very responsive even on slow internet connections. This is the first player I have used that has a text only top menu bar, that is not just a bunch of buttons. While playing videos, all the controls are accessible and easy to understand. WiMPlay has lots of options for formatting your playback. You can always customize the playback window, hide the program icons, change the sizes and colors of the controls, adjust the window appearance, play the video in the lower right corner (for full screen), or a lot of other things. WiMPlay includes a really nice tutorial that covers: * Getting Started * General User Tips and Tricks * General Audio and Video Settings * The Main Window Bar Options * The Control Bar Options * The Video Control Bar Options * The Playback Interface Options * Advanced Options, such as on screen display and volume control options WiMPlay is very simple to use with just a few mouse clicks to get your media playing. WiMPlay is a very stable, stable, and responsive program with some great features that can really help your viewing experience.]]> only did the Raptors win Game 7, they brought home a road victory that, at the time, had been missing from their basket.

"This one was all on the line," Calderon said. "I mean it's hard to put it into words. We just tried to pick up each other and play. We didn't lose our composure and we didn't stop playing. We just kept pushing." "We've been winning the last two years. We've just been the same. This year, we wanted to win. We wanted to win at home. It's great to get the home-court advantage. It's great that we won tonight." The game started better than all of the
