The Filtermate is a powerful audio plugin packed with features that enable you to process and filter the audio output of your music productions. The plugin features a LFO clock which you can use to set the modulation rate of The Filtermate, set division factors, as well as synchronize its beat with the tempo of the host. With The Filtermate you are able to shape the effect so that it fits with your track using one of its Sine, Saw, Square and S/H waveforms. You can set the LFO modulation rate, division factors, the number of frequency divisions (i.e. octaves) and the number of splits (i.e. channels) to help you configure the effect for your track. This allows you to shape the effect to suit your track. The four LFO waveforms offer a sonic palette that can be used to create different effects. The LFO clock can be set to start with the host or can be synchronized to the audio input. In the latter case the effect will start playing after the audio input signal passes the selected threshold. At the same time the plug-in can be used to trigger audio clips for added realism or dynamic FX. Delay Threshold is an effects plug-in that simulates the behavior of a tape echo unit and delays the audio input signal. Designed to plug-in straight to your DAW it can be used to simulate the effects of an analog tape echo or delay unit. The software is designed to simulate the echo function and delay the signal. The plug-in features an intuitive interface and a step by step in depth guide that covers all the essential settings of the function, as well as how to set your delay time from zero to 10 seconds. The delay can be triggered in 10ms steps and can be changed at any time to adjust the level of reverberation. It also features a toggle switch to instantly switch between Active mode and Passive mode which can be used to further tweak the effect. The plug-in also features a 3.5mm Aux send and balanced in/out to connect to other analog tape echo units. The plug-in is equipped with a Delay Low Frequency Resonance (LFR) function which simulates the low pass filter that would be found in an analog tape echo unit. This means that you can use the LFR feature to simulate the frequency response of the tape so that you are able to fine
