I am new to.NET. I was trying to work with MVC 4 and it seems I can't start a new project with default project templates because they are all MVC 3. The VS2010 MVC project template is in its own folder, but that is not the case for the web forms. It seems that every web forms project uses the Default template and will be in the ASP folder. What is the point of this. Why are they all different? I would like to be able to start a new project with the web forms as is recommended for MVC 4. A: See this question: ASP.Net WebForm vs ASP.NET MVC on same project As known, a wafer that is used in manufacturing semiconductor devices, such as a silicon wafer or the like, is subjected to a plurality of processes for manufacturing semiconductor devices. For example, a wafer is transported to a heat treatment furnace with a wafer boat that accommodates therein a plurality of wafers, and is subjected to a heat treatment process in a heat treatment furnace. In such a wafer heat treatment process, a carrier is provided
