That's what Tom Hanks would do if he could move to Australia. Even though he's a New Yorker by heart, the actor is so attached to the place that he'd rather live off the land in the countryside than check into a traditional apartment. And guess what? According to the famed film star, it's one of the most exciting places in the world. "I've taken a few trips surfing in the past and I think that's what I'm going to do," he said. "You can go to Hawaii and I've been to Costa Rica and done that. You can go to Australia, it's a little bit warmer, it's not quite as cold. It just seems to have a better vibe about it." In the meantime, the 65-year-old actor is planning to live out his dream by renting a beach-front home in Sydney, which costs about $2,000 a month. "I'm going to buy a share of an 570a42141b
