Q: Translating JSON using jQuery I'm trying to translate the JSON data from a URL by calling it via AJAX and then translating it with jQuery. $.ajax({ url: '', method: 'GET' }).done(function (data) { for (var id in data) { if (data[id].type == 'food' && data[id].item_type == 'cuisine') { data[id].title = 'Курица'+ data[id].title; } } $.get('/index', { data: data }, function(data) { alert(data.foods.title); }); }); The second call returns the translated data in a blank alert box. What am I doing wrong? A: for (var id in data) { if (data[id].type == 'food' && data[id].item_type == 'cuisine') { data[id].title = 'Курица'+ data[id].title; } } You are assigning title on every object which is not what you want to do. $.ajax({ url: '', method: 'GET' }).done(function (data) { var tranlate = $.map(data, function (value, key)

Cheats and shortcuts for keyboard and mouse. Many utilities support playing games in fullscreen and displaying game info on the desktop. Keyboard Manger is a software tool for Windows. It supports five navigation methods: keyboard, mouse, hotkeys, joystick, and touchpad. It can detect when you are playing a game, and even record your keystrokes to send to the game. You can also use Keymacro to automatically change desktop wallpaper. Install the software and enjoy its exciting features. Works on all Windows versions. Hotkeys configuration Record your keyboard and mouse clicks to the system registry. You can define all needed keys and assign shortcuts to them. You may record your clicks on any desktop. This software doesn't need any other Windows components like Mouse Drivers, Joystick Drivers, Gamepad Drivers, etc. And it does not need user interaction to start the recording process. Keymacro handles everything automatically. It's easy to configure your hotkeys: you just need to click the Hotkeys toolbar, click the Hotkeys tab, add all needed keys and assign shortcuts. Plus, you can set the hotkey settings to start when you start the application or to trigger at logon, idle, or just about any other time.

Automatic wallpaper change This software enables you to automatically change your desktop wallpaper from time to time. You can also customize the wallpaper to be displayed while a game is running, or during a movie or DVD playback. Besides, the software features a built-in utility that allows you to detect when you are playing a game, record your keystrokes, and automatically change the desktop wallpaper. Extra features Keymacro supports six button layouts. You can assign one layout to one key and another one to another key, or to all keys at once. This software also supports a hotkey that enables or disables the mouse. The Hotkeys configuration utility allows you to configure the mouse to run, to be enabled or disabled. In addition, it allows you to assign Windows Hotkeys. You may set the cursor to move forward and backward, or jump to the previous or next desktop, and so on. Keymacro supports various games, including all popular games and all Windows games. If a game supports a standard hotkey, you may assign this key combination to a keymacro. No matter if you are an Internet user or a Windows system administrator, you can benefit from Internet Hotspot Shield VPN client. You may secure your Internet connection
