We hope you will enjoy using this plugin. Thank you for downloading. Universal Audio has announced that they are partnering with Ghostland Recordings to bring to life a new line of plugins. Ghostland Recordings is known for their solid and high quality plugins and software. These new plugins include the new VocalEQ Spectral plugin, Universal Audio VocalEQ Spectral. VocalEQ Spectral is a completely new take on the classic VocalEQ plugin. Universal Audio have designed a plugin that incorporates state-of-the-art Linear Prediction Post-Filter technology and a concept that involves a spectral display of both time and frequency. They have focused VocalEQ Spectral on pinpointing pitch problems such as the dreaded "nasal voice". This technology ensures that the plugin will not clip or lose high frequencies even when its used to correct the voice to match another instrument. In addition to these processing benefits, the plugin also provides the option to use as an audio equalizer. "We are excited to announce a partnership with Universal Audio that will bring a new line of high quality products to the market," stated Zack Truong. "This new partnership with Universal Audio represents a partnership with a highly respected, experienced and respected industry partner. We are pleased to offer Universal Audio's latest products and look forward to adding new products in the future." Ghostland Recordings have also released VocalEQ Spectral Preview. This preview version of the plugin will allow users to view and audition the plugin before purchasing a license. There will also be a public beta testing period prior to the official release. Universal Audio has announced the release of the new VocalEQ Spectral Premium and VocalEQ Spectral Professional products. These plugins are available to purchase at VocalEQ Spectral Premium is priced at $149.95 and will be available in both 24-bit and 32-bit WAV and AIF formats. It will be available in the US, Europe, Australia and New Zealand
