Radius Audio Technology is a German audio software company with a mission to provide a first class audio solutions to home and business users. The technology is focused on pushing the boundaries of what can be done in terms of audio software, and the company works hard to develop hardware and software solutions that make the most of home and studio audio hardware. The audio company has developed software products that span the entire audio production chain including DAW, Audio Recorder, Dither, VST Plug-ins, VST Instrument, VST Effects and Audio Effects. As a long time owner of Radius' Rad3Ware audio software I was excited to hear that Radius had developed a new audio recording tool. Rad3Ware is an amazing piece of audio software that has set the standard for modern computer based recording. I have been using it for nearly a decade and it still rivals some of the best high end recording hardware available. The new Rad3Ware Audio Recorder is a software application that is designed for home recording enthusiasts that want to take their audio projects to a higher level. Rad3Ware Audio Recorder is an easy to use application that allows the user to create an unlimited number of audio tracks. The tracks can be played back on their computer, transferred to other programs for further editing or they can be played back on real audio equipment like a CD player or a turntable. The application comes with over 50 sounds including vocals, electric guitars, acoustic guitars, drums, pianos, marimbas, glockenspiel and more. It also comes with two audio inputs and a real time audio compressor. This allows users to use their music to create great sounding audio while also compressing their music to bring out the best in it. Rad3Ware Audio Recorder Features: Over 50 sounds including vocals, electric guitars, acoustic guitars, drums, pianos, marimbas, glockenspiel and more. 2 audio inputs, including a mic input and an audio input that can be used with a turntable or CD player. KEYMACRO is a complete digital keyboard for musicians and audio producers that want to work with other keyboards. The program is organized into six graphic windows, where: - The first contains the main parameters of the computer, such as the operating system, memory and CPU. - The second, in the background, is where you can use macros, trigger the volume and step, and display the LED of the computer. - The third is where we get to the core, where we configure the sound to create the effect, the nature of the sounds as well as their number and programming options. - The fourth is the parameter of the sound effects, such as panning, effects and what to do when the loop is completed. - The fifth is where we enter the objects that will help us program our own macros or triggers. - The final is where we find the tools for editing the audio that we have prepared in the third window. In addition, the sixth window shows a preview of the sound we have prepared and lets you hear it in real time. Since KEYMACRO is a multi-user program, many users can work together on the same computer, giving your band and studio a professional touch. The program can be accessed through a smartphone with the use of an application to create and edit key and music.
