It touches on all aspects of the flow of human life, including: .The present invention relates to a sample analyzer capable of integrating a plurality of sample analyzers, and more particularly, to a sample analyzer capable of integrating a plurality of gas sensors with an integrated analyzer. The demand for sample analyzers is increasing. The current sample analyzer is developed in the field of chemistry; it is mainly used for measuring samples such as blood. The sample analyzer should be equipped with a pipette tip, which is the most important part, for receiving a sample to be analyzed. However, the pipette tip needs sterilization after using it for each sample; the current sample analyzer can only use one pipette 570a42141b
