In addition, FIFA's Physics Engine has received significant improvements through a combination of code and hardware, and the software has been optimized for its new DX11 processor technology. The visual fidelity of the ball has been greatly improved and momentum mapping has been added to the ball, meaning that the ball looks more realistic while being caught, especially on the field. Other notable gameplay enhancements include: Precise Dribbling – Players can make more precise dribbles with an enhanced ability to maintain control on the ball after receiving an off-ball pass. Players retain the ability to rotate the ball in tight spaces, but the control of the ball has been enhanced, allowing players to move in tighter spaces without accidentally passing the ball to a team-mate. Gameplays – Player interruptions and off-ball passes are now more intelligent, which allows players to make more accurate off-ball passes, significantly improving the variety of passing angles. The number of defenders surrounding a player after a throw-in has been reduced to increase the number of passing options available to players. Animation – Players' animation has been revised to increase the variety of interaction between players, as well as improving the clarity of animation. FIFA 22 introduces a brand new, larger game menu, with more options and more detailed information. Several additional menus have also been added to the FIFA 22 main menu. FIFA 22 features the "Win and Create your Ultimate Team," game mode, which is a way for players to train and become the ultimate football club with the fastest and strongest footballers. Ultimate Team unlocks new legends and introduces new ways to create your own custom teams. The "Create your Ultimate Team," game mode allows you to build the ultimate football team of the world's finest footballers, with the latest kits and play styles. Your Ultimate Team can be built from the start, or you can improve your existing team over 30 seasons. FIFA 22 introduces a new feature called "Restarts." This new feature allows players to start a new game if they quit during gameplay. FIFA 22 also introduces an element called the "Dream Team" that can be accessed by tapping the Dream Team icon on the main menu. This feature allows you to create the perfect team of your favourite players, by allowing you to pick from over 60 players and to freely customize your team with over 80 kits and techniques. FIFA 22 introduces the "Career" game mode

Return to the pitch and construct the best team of the modern era. HOW TO GET Play FIFA FIFA Ultimate Team for free for the first six months after release. The Premium Team Packs will be available to buy in-game from the FIFA store. * Please note: early access to this game begins on September 7th; EA will be emailing out those with EA codes to gain access as of this date. We have been playing/ working on FIFA for years and we've seen it all, its our passion and our career. Please reach out to us if you want to talk and have a laugh, we'd love to help you with your questions. Can you confirm there are new modes? I bought the game on the 12th and still only have career mode and rankings mode. I bought the pack and would like to play online and online tournaments but I haven't seen these options on the game yet. The Career Mode is only available in Ultimate Team. You can buy the Packs to get that in-game once you've access to Ultimate Team. Online is also only available on Ultimate Team. It's only available for those who own the full game. Season Pass will also unlock the Pro Clubs this year. So there will be lots of extra content to play with when you get into the game. I am so disappointed to read that Career Mode will only be available if you buy a season pass. There are many players who are wanting to play online, and as a result of that, they will not buy the season pass. Are there any plans to include all modes in the Ultimate Team game too. I also want to ask for the ingame store to be edited so that you buy just one game per month. This can be also done by configuring the Windows settings, so that you do not spend any money for in game items. I love how FIFA is a game that people can play alone or with their friends. But you need to make sure that the game is optimised for online so that multiplayer works flawlessly. EA (or anyone who is working on this game) needs to be more focused on the online aspects for the game. Then I would really be able to see how FIFA feels as a 5v5 game. There is no way I will be getting this game as I don't want an 'expensive' game

What's new in Fifa 22:

- Team of the Season introduces new ways to play. Instead of marking the 10 best FIFA 22 players, you can now pick your Player of the Season using pre-selected criteria. Pick the best, most influential and most clinical player for your team or gameplay style. Look to the atmosphere, individual performances and overall impact. Score your Player of the Season in the coming weeks as new challenges are released, and your chosen Criteria unlocks an exclusive set for your gamerscore. The 22 Club your squad. Add a name, number and date to your players to create an official team of the season, and challenge your friends to beat it.
 - Matchday Improvements - Recalibrate matchday commentary for team of the season as the leading player unlocks are revealed for dedicated fans. Watch all-new camera angles throughout the game, and see the effects of tactical substitutions, while the new Matchday Sentiment and Matchday Crowds empowers players to alter crowd behaviour.

Technical improvements:

- Brand-new Front End
- Improved third-party licensed player models
- All-new passing mechanic, dynamic correlation support and improvements to ball acceleration, speed, time of flight, movement and more.

- Improved defensive AI coupled with new player and player comp build-ins, and additions to the game's physics to support new situational defensive movements, resulting in increased awareness, line-breaking and tackle efficiency.
 - All-new collision and contextual AI for players, assists and keepers; and new, more realistic interactions for defending and receiving the ball.
 - Improved ratings for attacking and general play. AI now reacts quicker and more intuitively to players' skills, strengths and weaknesses
