“The accuracy and intelligence of our AI will make your players feel more human and react as individuals,” explained Dan Traven, EA Sports technical director. “We’ve taken what our gameplay team and the players have learned over the past few years and gone back to the data to make sure we have more of that in Fifa 22 For Windows 10 Crack.” Key highlights of the updates include: Improved ball physics The ball is now more responsive to changes in speed. It feels slightly firmer in certain areas and more bouncy in others. Hand-to-ball impact is also more refined, both when played with the foot or a pass. Improved dribbling and ball control New dribbling mechanics include the ability to slow the ball down as well as the ability to change direction or speed using a new “dribble action,” which drops your player into the non-moving ball as you change direction. This has led to more opportunities for creativity in dribbling, with players able to play more freely and express themselves. Dynamic Timing The timing of goals is now more dependent on the speed of the running player - the faster they run, the tighter you will get to the ball. This provides a tighter window of opportunity for a player to control the ball in a central location around goal. Explosion aiming Player skill at game entry affects what actions they can perform, while your style of play affects the actions you can perform. Goalkeepers and defenders have more control over where the shot will land. Defenders’ speed and agility in the air By testing each defender’s ability to deal with aerial crosses and blocks, real-world actions have been introduced that simulate this behaviour to ensure more realistic aerial challenges. Defenders react more intelligently with new behaviors that help guide them, like anticipating the flight path of the ball to reduce their challenges. Reflexes Improved reactions during moments of crisis, like a goalkeeper saving a shot off his own goal line, work in conjunction with smart decisions during the match to produce better results. Improved Scoreboard Improved match engine is now more closely linked to the overall experience in order to inform players of when to slow down, rewind or pause the match. This technology allows for players to play at a greater speed than ever before, while rewarding high-skill players with a higher level of tactics
