What is FIFA? With the all-new LiveMatch, you'll be able to compete in player-versus-player matches against your opponents to prove who's the best. You can take on friends and rivals in one-on-one, head-to-head, team-versus-team and FreeKick matches. The visuals and animations are completely overhauled, and are packed with brand new animations, player models and lighting effects that place all players on a level playing field. New and improved gameplay features, like Double-Take, new Defending system, New Player Search, Focus mode, and improved ball physics make gameplay even more accurate. Improved control and a new challenging touchline passing system, brought to life by more realistic defensive and attacking behaviours, mean that the opposition will become even more unpredictable. A major overhaul of the Skill Games has been made in order to make these more meaningful, and to have them be part of a team-based game, rather than individual battles. A new online mode called EA SPORTS Player Impact brings a new AI opponent, and their behaviour and style of play, to the pitch. How do I get more players? How do I get more players? The FUT Team Management screen provides a streamlined way to manage your squad, with a quick view of player stats, formation preferences, and quick FUT wins and losses so you can keep tabs on how your players are doing in games. Adidas and Nike profiles have been expanded, and new global images and community content will be added to these. New image and content updates, to provide more accurate player information, will appear weekly on the Adidas and Nike profiles. What are the differences? What are the differences? The new FUT Team Management screen is simpler and provides a quick view of player stats, formation preferences, and a quick FUT win and loss. The scouting screen has been completely overhauled, and provides a more streamlined way to scout players, including the ability to edit watch lists, make head-to-head comparisons, compare stats and more. Players in Career Mode can make direct signings from the transfer market, choosing the players they want to sign and paying the transfer fee. They can be matched to the club's preferred formations and will learn and develop the way they would in the real world. The contract lengths and payment amounts
