--- abstract: 'There exists a wealth of data from past and ongoing experiments such as COMPASS at CERN SPS, PANDA at FAIR, CLAS12 at Jefferson Lab and PANDA-TOF at GSI. This report covers a recent study on a novel method to infer the mass and quantum numbers of Ω baryons which form a multiplets of SU(3) that are

Ω^-, Ω^0 and Ω^+ decuplet baryons in terms of the lightest SU(3) singlet and doublet dibaryons. These states are shown to be the S-wave states from the same spin-parity multiplet and are predicted to have mass $2431\text{-}2453$ MeV and $1788\text{-}1918$ MeV respectively. These masses are on top of the S-wave $\Sigma^-\pi^+$ threshold and the D-wave Σ^+K^- threshold. The exotic doubly strange Ω baryons are predicted to be of the Ω_c states. The first experimental observation of an Ω_c baryon in the future PANDA-TOF experiment will be an important observation for understanding the role of strangeness in the baryon spectrum.'
