Farm and Ranch Savings Programs The state of New York's farm and ranch savings programs offer low-interest loans, grants, and technical assistance to farmers and ranchers to help make their businesses more profitable. High-quality, feed grain and livestock feed require consistent, high-quality moisture. The Start-Up Program provides low-interest loans to help farmers and ranchers start or expand their feed grain or livestock feed programs. We have two different programs in the farm and ranch savings department. The Feed Grain Program provides money to help farmers and ranchers purchase, set up, or expand feed grain storage, handling, or feed drying facilities. The Livestock Feed Program provides funding to help farmers and ranchers start feed or manage livestock feeding programs. What is the purpose of the programs? The purpose of these programs is to promote and increase investment in renewable grain, livestock feed, and feed conversion products, and to assist borrowers in applying for federal farm and consumer protection programs. The programs were established to provide access to and promote investment in productive, environmentally sound, efficient, and economical grain and livestock feed production and marketing facilities. The programs also serve to assist the federal government in the administration and enforcement of Title IV of the Federal Crop Insurance Act of 1966, and to assist borrowers in applying for federal farm and consumer protection programs. CSF) may not be necessary to prevent opportunistic infections in aplastic anemia patients undergoing allogeneic hematopoietic stem cell transplantation (HSCT). Although the incidence of bacterial and fungal infections following allogeneic hematopoietic stem cell transplantation (allo-HSCT) remains high, no consensus has been reached about the prevention and management of these infections. We retrospectively reviewed the clinical data of 132 patients who received allo-HSCT for aplastic anemia (AA). Of the 132 patients, 27 patients received myeloablative conditioning (MAC), 93 received reduced conditioning (RIC), and 12 received non-myeloablative conditioning (N
