It can be life-threatening, especially in children. Weight loss/weight gain. Weight loss/weight gain is a common symptom of Cushing's syndrome. However, it can also be seen in normal, stress and various medical conditions. Causes and symptoms. The adrenal cortex produces corticosteroids (such as cortisol) that influence how the body processes sodium. For example, it regulates the concentrations of potassium in your blood (which are abnormally low in people with low potassium). Bacterial, viral, fungal, or other infections (eg, gallbladder stones) are the most common cause of a... Nkama - PDF
