Windows 10 Enterprise 2019 LTSC N Version - A: You are installing an ISO that is already patched so the only thing it needs to do is update it. The downloading of the ISO was probably caused by the fact that you are using an outdated mirror or downloading from a mirror too close to your location, or unpatched. You can use this link to get the ISO you want: Once you have the ISO you should be able to use the Deployment Image Servicing and Management tool (DISM) to build and activate an installation package for Windows 10 Enterprise N LTSC 2019 (see the user guide for more information). You can use this link to download DISM: Q: "using directive" using imported.net framework namespaces in a .net 3.5 app I have a .net 2.0 project that I need to export to the web. I'm using the web.config transforms to be able to do this using a custom build task. A key piece of this is to add the import of the required namespaces to the web.config of the target I'm serving from. This is an example of some of the code that I'm currently using. It's about 8 lines, but I'm curious to see how this could be streamlined into a single line. // get the imported namespaces var importedNamespaces = AppDomain.CurrentDomain.GetAssemblies().Where(a => a
