It needs to be 4 ms average response time. Currently its taking about 900ms average. My server is of 2vcpu and around 96gb ram, running 64bit os. Is there anything i can improve in order to achieve the above mentioned response time? I have already asked questions on SE and was told to improve query plans and indexes. I am using SQL Server 2008. Also is there anyway to pre fetch data in Web services, whenever they are invoked? A: Generally speaking, web services can be written in any style and the only requirement is that they communicate with each other. A question about performance is usually so specific that it's
