Yet, the real culprit here is none other than Adobe. Any time I come across somebody using the default 25MB file limit, I cannot help but tell them to find a different way to send their pictures. After all, they're committing the cardinal sin of doing something no one's ever done before: taking a picture on their phone. Snap! Remove it from its packaging and unfold the bumbo. Starting from the bottom, tie the end of your tape to the ties at the bumbo's bottom corners. Starting at the top tie the other end of your tape to the ties at the bumbo's top corners. Tie the tape around each of the sides and across the top and bottom of the bumbo. Make sure everything is secured correctly by making sure that no loose ends of tape are sticking out. It's important to have a little play time with your bumbo before you put your baby inside of it. Try sitting it on the floor and let your baby sit in it for a bit to get used to it. The next part of the process is to make sure that your diaper bag is sitting on something stable.
