PhotoViz is a software application designed to help you edit your photos, featuring support for an auto image adjustment and red eye removal option. The user interface is clean and offers direct access to the files and folders stored on your computer. Hence, you can easily pick the images that you want to edit. PhotoViz supports batch processing, which means you can add multiple items to the list and edit them in the same time. The images can be copied to the Clipboard, rotated to different angles, and you can also view details about each photo, such as file name, width, height, camera model, shutter speed, ISO rating and others. You can resize, crop, zoom in or out, enable the red eye removal option, and apply different special effects (sepia, grayscale). Furthermore, PhotoViz comes packed with an auto image feature, which corrects the flaws found in a photo. You may also manually configure the dedicated parameters, by adjusting the levels of color balance, saturation, brightness and contrast, as well as applying softening and sharpening effects. It features an encryption option, which can be used to hide messages and files, and you can also set up passwords to keep your documents private. You are allowed to specify the saving directory and file name, as well as pick a default output file size and format (JPEG, PNG, TIFF or BMP). All things considered, PhotoViz cannot be considered a top product from its category, as it only packs some basic tools when it comes to editing photos. The Cowgirls went onto host the second round of the tournament in Stillwater. Following their title game loss in Provo last season, the Roadrunners were matched with the Pepperdine Waves. This time they would be the ones with revenge on their mind. The Roadrunners entered the game as overwhelming favorites to win. In fact, ESPN's College Basketball Nation Selection Predictor predicted Roadrunners to win by an average of 22.3 points. In addition to an upset of KU, the Roadrunners were favored by more than 13 points in a game with St. John's. He came up short from the charity stripe, giving the Roadrunners a 6-4 lead. The Roadrunners went back on offense and Woolridge made the first of a few clutch shots down the stretch to maintain a lead of 10-6. After a questionable call against a Pepperdine turnover, the Roadrunners offense was able to find their way inside the paint to tie the game. Pepperdine played for much of the first quarter on their heels, barely missing shots. Utah Valley and San Francisco both had early baskets
