HyperMotion All gameplay stats are now computed and displayed from the exact same Unity mesh. There are no longer any issue when comparing stats from the same gameplay clip. Additionally, there are 6 new game modes: "FIFA Ultimate Team," "FIFA Leagues," "Training," "The Journey," "The Journey: Champions," and "The Journey: Road to The World Cup." All modes now feature a complete career mode in every mode except "FIFA Ultimate Team" and "The Journey: Road to The World Cup." Goalkeepers can now shoot a rebound goal from inside their own box. There are also new counter-pressing and pressing actions. Additionally, there are more "English-styled" passing controls and defensive tactics. AI Fixes AI/Athletic Performance: The AI opponents have a better understanding of how to attack, defend and finish chances. Attack: Worked a better job at heading the ball and also the understanding of the importance of the first pass. Pass and Move: The AI now more intelligently moves the ball to relevant spots. Defend: The AI defenders now understand what is going on and now take more appropriate first touch. Spacing: AI teams more intelligent in how they spread the game. Pitch Awareness: The AI teams now make better decisions and are more aware of the game situation. Tactical Switches: The team has learned and has less need to call for a tactical switch. Better Speed Control: The AI is more aware of their opponent and better able to control their speed. Player Movement & Behaviour: FIFA's motion capture data has allowed us to tweak individual player behaviours to make them more realistic. Players now run less wide and are able to move quicker. They use their run, pass and shooting strengths more naturally. We've also added more natural moving players, such as avoiding winding balls and running diagonally without changing the direction of their foot. Improved Equipment & Real Player Physics: We've had our players wear FIFA-standard kits with new player mechanics and a new, more realistic, set of physical interactions. The player animations also now uses complete motion capture data and, for the first time, real-life players' muscles, bones, joints and constraints will be used in creating the player's animations.
