As a manual, you can follow the steps listed above or you can choose to automate your process. The process will be similar to what is shown above. I would not advise you to use unattended installations in the following cases: You have a script that automatically downloads and installs the software, or There is an error message to indicate that the application was not fully installed or was corrupted.

The reason for this is that the installation program may block other programs from running while installing. If you do choose to use an unattended installation, disable all other software to avoid any conflicts, such as automatic updates, firewalls, or anti-virus. Enable Unattended (Custom) on the Customer Portal Follow these steps to enable unattended installations. Log in to the Customer Portal at On the Personal Info tab, click Advanced Setup under Manage. Click the Setup option under Device Management Scroll down and click the link to switch to "Unattended installations and automatic updates" To access the Setup Wizard, click the "Advanced Setup" link. Click the "Choose a new product" option on the welcome page. Click "Continue" on the subsequent step. Complete the set up. After that, you can automate the activation process for all your Adobe software on customer portal by providing the activation key generated from the serial keygenerator tools. You can select the program that you have activated and select an install method (by clicking the Setup button) for the selected products. After that click the Install button. If you need the activation key now, you can use the activation tool.
