App for the milk App Screenshots: 4 Comments I've been using Remember the Milk at work and on my Mac, but a client has asked me to remove it. They're not interested in setting up their own account, and they're not interested in paying for it. Also, I'd have to install it on their phone. What can I use instead? I'm looking for something similar. I'd like to be able to share tasks/notes/tasks/tasks/etc (with a little bit of a social network feel) to other people. I'm looking for something similar. I'd like to be able to share tasks/notes/tasks/notes/etc (with a little bit of a social network feel) to other people. That means a webservice, such as plistdict.com, which lets you post notes and tasks, and save it to a webservice which you can refer to (not the address of the web service, but the name) and the name of your tag. Hey, just found this from a recent browsing through your blog. I'm a freelancer and I've been looking for a web service that'll help me manage a bunch of tasks I've got scheduled each day. It need to sync to my iphone or android, be fast and efficient. I had a look at and I think that it's pretty good, but I'm not sure whether it can connect to Android devices. Have you guys got any experience of a web service like this and how it performs? Thanks It's not what you b7e8fdf5c8
