Stock calculator The current stock price. This is the price that someone is currently willing to pay for the stock. The underlying assumption is that it will remain that way until the market closes. For example, if the price is going up then the market is thinking that it will continue to rise. You can use the stock calculator to calculate: - The price you think the stock is worth. -The price your selling for (if you want to sell). - The price your buying for (if you want to buy). Threshold calculator The percent the stock has to rise or fall before the market closes in order for you to make a profit. - See the calculator for a full description. There are many more of these. You can check out the instructions and the full description to learn all about the different types and how to use them.
