I have a list of pointers to objects. I want to reverse the order of that list. The objects are Queue nodes. The QList is private. Is there a simple way to do this? A: As pointed out by others, if you're using Qt4, just do this: QList::iterator it = myQueueList.begin(); while(it!= myQueueList.end()){ (it)->pushFront(); // or whichever method you use to add to queue } In Qt5, you can use the more idiomatic Qt::PriorityQueue instead. A: I am assuming that you are using Qt 4. This is what I use when implementing "pop and push" algorithms in C++. QList::iterator it = m_list.begin(); while (it!= m_list.end()) { T item = *it; if (m_pop == true) m_list.remove(item); else m_pushBack(item); ++it; } Please note that this algorithm only updates the "current element" in the list. If you want to do the reverse thing (change elements in the list) just change the line starting with the * into *it = *m_list.begin(); Q: How can this be done using Qt 5? A: For Qt5, the list::begin() returns a const_iterator, so you should be able to use const_reverse_iterator instead of reverse_iterator. !" "I'm talking to you!" "I want you to get away from me!" Secocarpin, a novel non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug (NSAID) as an active constituent of soil-derived actinomycete strain, Saccharopolyspora spinosa Z-6201, was isolated using chromatographic separation methods. Secocarpin was isolated through a series of steps: toluene extraction, silica gel column chromatography, and preparative HPLC. The structure of secocarpin was elucidated on the basis of spectroscopic analyses. Secocarpin was active on anti-inflammatory agents and showed a potent inhibitory activity on cyclo
